

"video and dancing in binghamton"

There will be video and dancing in Binghamton. The American Dance Asylum and the Experimental Television Center will present a free performance entitled "Video and Dancing in Binghamton".

The performance will be held tonight (February 21) and tomorrow night (February 22) at the Experimental Television Center, 164 Court Street in downtown Binghamton. The show will begin promptly at 8:30 pm.

Video (television) and dance are two very different mediums of expression. So different in fact are the qualities of their energies that they are seldom successfully seen together.

This show is an attempt to discover what dance together with video and video together with dance can be.

"Video and Dancing in Binghamton" will be two evenings devoted to seeing various living Twentieth Century environments. The works presented explore the relationships of audio and video together.

Participants include Jill Becker, Meryl Blackman, Peer Bode, Brian Byrnes, David Jones, William Jones, Lois Welk, Susan Wolfson, Walter Wright and A.M. Zane. The center is supported in part by the New York State Council on the Arts.
